Spiritual Mind Treatment – the Process: Dr. Carol Carnes

Step One: Recognition

Praise the Source. Speak above the condition. Speak of the Source (God) in the formless. This step is all about that Infinite presence. It is about moving the conscious mind into deeper and deeper accord with what is. When we have a condition or problem not to our liking, we give ourselves a mind treatment of the spiritual kind. The problem is a result of our limited perception of what is true and who we are. So we go back into our own mind and retell the cosmic story.

There is One Life, One Mind, One Loving Power, One presence making everything out of itself. It is everywhere present throughout this universe, all of it, all the time, all at once, etc. It is non-local and absolute. It knows only the wholeness of being in a field of infinite possibility.

Step Two: Unify

The One life is my life. The one mind is my mind. The one power is my power. The power resides in me, as me, through me. It expresses by means of me. It loves living this life as me. I am the perfect outlet for all the qualities of Spirit that become the energies of my experience. God is forever pressing to express as this life I am living. I heed the call. I am led, guided and directed from deep within my own being. I am constantly supplied and supported in everything I do. My entire life is a reflection of my spiritual wholeness.

Step Three: Realization

That which I seek to manifest in my life is now flowing into this time space dimension with absolute ease and perfect love. It comes with joy and effortless intelligence. I am surprised and delight with the effects of this new Cause which is already out picturing. I accept my Good. I am blessed and grateful.

Step Four: Release

This word is law unto itself. It is acted upon right now. All is well.

Step Five: Gratitude

I am grateful for the many blessings that result from this spoken word.

Spiritual Mind Treatment – the Process: Dr. Bill Little

Excerpted from Dr. Bill's talk on "Laws of Manifestation" Presented January 12, 2014

Let's take a slightly different angle on the Four Step process; it's complementary, not exactly the same, yet similar. It's obvious that the principle passes through each of these four stages, but let's look at this as a way of living this principle and see if we can take it home, actually do it, and see amazing results by cooperating with this law of truth: There is only one.

Step One: Right Identification

As you know, Right Identification means, thinking that there is one being, one essence, (Lao Tzu called it the Tao) being the entire universe. It has become the 10,000 things. We must start at that point. We just jump right into that principle and we don't allow the mind to think of anything else but that.

Now that is an experience which takes practice, because the mind is very used to doing its own thinking; choosing what it wants to think about, ignoring what you particularly want to think about. You think that the mind only thinks what you want to think about, but oh no, just watch it closely! There are times when you can get even very still and these thoughts pop into your mind that have absolutely nothing to do with you, your life, or anyone you know; there's nobody in the room talking to you and then there are these thoughts – now where are they coming from? Ever had that experience? You say: "What's that?" The mind does what it wants to do – it thinks us!

We've got to turn that around and when we're doing this process we need to say to the mind that we are thinking about the one that is being us now – the same one that is being everyone now. That is the starting point of developing a consciousness of wealth or health or anything else.

It starts with that principle. You say: "Well what does that mean?" You don't know what it means. Your mind can't know what it means. We can't know what it means. It's simply got to think it. Just stay with it. There's only one. You must think as though that is true and then the mind gets a little quiet, because that means reversing everything it's ever thought – because it's always thought about things as if they're in relationship to other things. This is not in relationship to any other thing.

There's only one – call it God/Goddess/Inner Self (that's what we call it in California) the Inner Self. This is it. This is the starting point. This is the center of the wheel. If you take the image of the wheel – the symbol of Buddhism – it's a spoked wheel. In the center of that wheel nothing moves. The center is still. It doesn't translate, it doesn't rotate, it's still; but every other point on the wheel is moving.

If you start at the central point you're starting at the axis around which the entire mind moves. If you start at a point out on a spoke, it's like starting with a certain fact . . . "Well, you know my parents said that you have to work hard to make it in this world." That's something out on a spoke. If the mind starts with that, it's starting with facts. If it starts with facts, it's not starting with absolute truth; it's starting with things that are changeable, it's on shaky ground. It's starting with suggestions that come from others, those others are not even here anymore and you're starting with that suggestion instead of who you are.

And then it begins to dawn on you that you've always started with people's suggestions . . . instead of who you are – ahhhhh . . . This is shocking! It probably means your mind has never thought about your own presence at all – it has always thought from other people's ideas. This is a very, very shaky way to create a life. Who knows whether this is true or not?

Surely, we had well-meaning parents and teachers and so forth; but they gave us what was true for them. How do we know if it's true for us at all? It's an interesting question.

So you start with this One, and you say this one is being me right now. If you go slowly with that, don't jump fast across this Step One as it's very important, you'll find that what will happen is, that over a period of minutes, what will grow in you is a sense of your own being; because when you keep on insisting that this presence that's here now is actually being everything, then the mind will oppose it. It will object to it. But, if you still insist upon the oneness of your being, slowly, a sense of peace will come about . . . and that's how you'll know you've done this first step correctly: your nervous system will relax and you'll actually feel the body go into ahhh . . . it's sort of like your body goes into a deeper state and SLOWLY the mind will slow down . . . it does not happen quickly for most people – you can't expect it to happen in 10 seconds, but stay with it. Stay with that sense of oneness . . .

It's true that you cannot experience this One as this or that – what you experience is peace – you experience the space between two thoughts – the mind's not moving between two thoughts is it? There's no thinking going on. Just for a split second – the space between two breaths . . . nothing happening – that's it – that is it – call it Self – Void – I don't care what you call it - Jim or John – whatever. That's it! Notice how stable it is. It's between every two thoughts. As a matter of fact, thoughts never change it – it's always what it is – right?

Between any two breaths there is a space and its nature never changes. It is ultimate stability, ultimate peace. And it's right there. It's not far away. That is what you're looking for. That's who you are. You're that which is there when the mind is not. WOW! Ok? This is not something to be intellectually considered for a few seconds and then let go. You've got to experience it, you've got to live it and as you do this more and more, it's easier and easier to get to. But to begin with, you're going to have to put in your time; that's the way it is.

Let's say, for example, we're again talking about increasing wealth this year. Ok, so you've taken this first step and you feel relaxed and you sense that peace, that stable something that is there when the mind's not jabbering; even when the body is not breathing, because you know in between two breaths there is a stopping point, and you're not breathing. You have to stop completely – there's no in breath no out breath – for a split second there's a stop and in that stop, you're not breathing, and the mind isn't thinking – and that happens something like 21,000 times a day. So it's not that it's hard to get to – it's right there. And you're relaxed.

Step Two: Right Imagination

What's next? The next stage, Step Two, is called Right Imagination. People think: "Imagination? You want me to fantasize?" In a sense, yes – but fantasize spiritually. That space between two thoughts or two breaths is scintillating energy. You think it's nothing, it's not nothing; it is actually the energetic source of everything. This is the Tao. This is the one that's become the 10,000 things.

If you've read our Pathwords Newsletter this month, in the Minister's article I talk about the way the Jews deal with this. In their Old Testament, they took the ancient letter code that came from the Kabbalah and modern writers have actually applied that letter code to the Old Testament. So that phrase: "In the beginning God created the Heaven and the Earth . . ." which opens Genesis, when you translate it from the original Hebrew letter code, it's very, very different . . . you can see the article for more details.

Basically what it says is that there are two aspects of one thing going on. The first aspect is uncontrollable energy – energy that is extremely subtle, so subtle that the senses cannot pick it up – a scintillating ocean of energy. And, the second aspect is containers for that energy. Sounds like tiger's milk and gold; the same basic idea; that's within us. The tiger's milk is within us. The question is, 'Do we have a golden mind?'

This is how you contemplate a golden mind. You listen to the stillness, between the breaths; the stillness between the thoughts; as if it was the source of everything, as if it was really God. We use that word very commonly – God – but you can call it Self – It couldn't care less what you call it. Just listen to it. You say, "Well that's silly; I'm going to listen to stillness? I've got lots of things to do." That's ego, trying to distract you. So, you get used the ego and how it has its little ways of pulling on you. Just ignore it. Keep listening to the stillness.

You have an intention to have more income (that actually becomes before the treatment process) so you started with that. By listening what can you hope to hear? Nobody knows. At this point it's unpredictable. What that energy does is unpredictable, what it says to you, the next thought it gives you; and it will appear eventually as a thought or a feeling. You can't predict it; this is God we're talking about, this is not a person.

For many people what happens is this: They have a desire for more income, they get still, they honor the Self within, they listen, and (I know it's hard to believe) but God whispers in your ear. "A whisper – why?" Because you'd be scared to death if God said: "Excuse me!?" You'd fall off your chair! So, it's a whisper to begin with. The whisper will be something like: "You are my beloved child, I have always loved you, I will give you anything you need and want."

For many people what happens, because Westerners are absolutely determined to struggle to earn money, we make it difficult. And the first thing God is going to say is: "Why are you struggling? You are my child. You are my expression. I created you. You think I'm going to leave you alone? What type of parent is that?"

And next you are likely to have a very heartfelt message and you may cry, because this may be the first time in a long time that you've felt loved; and that's the way this is. This is your being talking to you, the being you were before you were a human being, and it loves you completely and its first job, almost inevitably, is to convince you to accept this love.

Jesus talked about this process in his own words but it's somewhat concealed. "I have sent you to reap where ye have not sown." God, that's a wonderful statement! In other words, you are gathering a harvest that you didn't plant. That means you're going to have to come from some source that is not the person you are. That's a very powerful statement. So this is the reaping that you have not sown.

Step Three: Right Attunement

What is Right Attunement? It means aligning yourself with the message you just got. Allowing your mind to expand on it; allowing your mind to fantasize about it. This is different from normal daydreaming, daydreaming starts from something in the world. This starts from something that's not in the world – this starts from the source of the world.

It just told you that you're its child and that it loves you and anything you need and want is yours. Now, let your mind's imagination attune itself to that. Let it see what it wants to see from that.

Use the mind to embroider that, to expand that, to get it into specific images. What would it feel like to be a Prodigal Son returning home; a beautiful robe is put on his shoulders, and a celebration is called for! He was just dying a few days before and now he is home! What would that feel like? Can you imagine that? That's what Step Three is. Can you actually take what you were given in that stillness and work it into your daily life and see it as an experience in your daily life? Can you see yourself with so much income that you have to decide what new investments to make? Whatever comes up – just let your mind go with it. This is a time for the mind to play. It plays after it starts from the center and receives from the center what it's supposed to think about.

This is called thinking from God – not thinking from facts. Makes sense – yes? It makes even more sense when you do it – because it is a real experience. You say: “But it all hinges on God talking to me.” You think God can't talk to you? “He who created the eye shall he not see? He who created the mind shall he not talk?” Of course! Of course God can talk to you!

Now this Right Attunement continues until it sort of runs out and you have these wonderful new images. Then you go into work and they say: “It's time for your pay increase; let's just give it to you now.”

Wow! You wonder what happened there! What happened there, is you sat still for five minutes and listened inside and an expansion of awareness of your identity occurred; and the expansion of the awareness of your identity now reveals itself in time and space, and the boss says it's now time for a pay increase!

The ego will resist this, by the way. It will argue even in the Attunement Stage.

It will say: “You're being foolish, you're not paying attention to reality.” You know it has that wonderful way of saying: “You're not being realistic.” Has your mind ever told you that? It loves to do that. But that's sort of its last stand; that's about all it can do to really get you, and if you ignore that, it's sort of out of ammunition. But it will do that for a while.

You see when you listen inside in Step Two you're listening to something that has an agenda for you – it does – it's not your agenda – it's the agenda of your own life force. It wants you completely free; it created you to be completely free. Free of what? Free of the prison your mind has created; the ego structure that it's been manufacturing all these years is a prison.

You fit inside a society, you fit inside a culture, you fit inside roles, you fit inside a family – God, there's a lot of boxes! And it wants to yank you out of those boxes. It will do it gently because it loves you, it won't hurt you. But it's going to get you outside of those boxes.

So that's why I say one of the first things you will feel and sense in this inner process is a heart thing. It's going to tell you something that expands your heart because the heart is really the area of a human being where we can escape from the mind most easily. When we feel loved, then it's really easy to ignore the mind. Love trumps the mind. It's that simple. So it's going to tell you things that expand you very quickly. You're likely to hear that you're a child of god and it loves you and it's always going to support you.

Step Four: Right Action

Now Right Action is really important, especially for Westerners like us, because one of the main things that happens in Western culture is that although we think about being more wealthy, having more income, having more success in the world, almost inevitably our mind comes up with: "Yeah but I'd have to work awfully hard day and night to make that come true." This completely ignores the prime directive (Star Trek) which is: There is only one – this one is God and this one is being you right now AND it's also being everyone else – the same one – the same one.

So in terms of what Right Action is, you should get rid of the idea that Right Action is - you go out now and become a slave at work, and take another job, and . . . oh no, no, no – that ignores the prime directive. Very often, what you find is, in this fourth step, you simply agree to do whatever part you need to be involved in – and that's up to God. And you find out, seemingly by magic, that all of a sudden people are there to help you; for no reason that you can predict or understand; people are saying to you, there's a job over here that pays a lot more why don't you look into it. You have no idea why they just said that to you. It's because God's being them too – the same God that is you.

So God can act through all sorts of channels and support this unfoldment in the world. Now chances are you'll have to do something, but usually it's extremely easy; because if you realize that your inner Self is the Self of all, then this whole thing happens with the aid of the entire world. So therefore, don't let your ego's argument that it's going to take an awful lot of work win. That's an ego argument. That's the ego reasoning from past experience and what other people say. Dismiss it – there's no truth to it at all.

St. Teresa of Avila said:

"Vocal prayer must be accompanied by reflection. A prayer in which a person is not aware of whom he is speaking to, what he is asking, who it is who is asking, and of whom, I don't call prayer however much the lips may move."

There is One Being behind all creation just as there is one tree being all branches and leaves and fruit. Thus, this One is being me too, right now. I am not left out of the plan of life. I am included in the magnificence of God's plan for the universe.

Therefore I now discard my mind's attempts to succeed at increasing my wealth – this is a small sense of self using struggle. Struggling is a denial of the One. It is a lack of faith that the One who provides for the 'lilies of the field' can also provide for me.

It is God's place to support my life, not mine. My place is to have faith in the One who created me. I see the difference and I act accordingly. When I pay bills, I realize that God is paying them – I am just writing a check or using a card. They are not my bills, they are God's way of borrowing from Itself. I am simply in service, similar to a steward in an estate, taking care of the account for the head of the manor. I find ways to remind my mind that I am hired by the One to expand Its greatness in time and space.

I release this Treatment and let it become daily life. And so it is.

The universe is a one way of being. Everything in it reveals the inherent divinity, love and wholeness of every part. Just as a hologram contains the entire picture in every part of the picture, every part of life contains all of life, or God.

This applies at all levels and includes the entity called The Center for Spiritual Awakening. This church was born from the mind of the universe to serve the purpose of propagating the truth among people which naturally makes them free. It is supported perfectly in fulfilling its destiny, its life story so to speak. As a tiny bulb planted in the spring draws to it the nutrients, moisture and sunlight to blossom, so does CSA draw its support to it, organically. People are drawn to the church through a law of attraction that works in wonderful ways. Hearts and minds are opened and gratitude springs forth as tangible support for worldly activities. The church serves God by serving God's people and this is a very high work. The light this work generates in the people at CSA reflects back to the church as support at all levels; service, financial support, and spiritual practices.

All is well. And so it is.

Rev. Nancy Callahan – for My Financial Prosperity (SAMPLE)

I understand that there is only one Mastermind, one source and Creator of all that is; I know that This One created me in its image and did so to experience itself through me, as me. It is my purpose to live well and to prosper and thrive without struggle or efforting, and to be an example to myself and others around me that the promise of the Lord is real: all we need to do is to ask, and it is given.

I see myself as deserving as the 'lilies of the field' which are cared for magnificently by God. When I was younger, perhaps I was told that I was not deserving, and that life was hard. If so, I was not told the truth as I understand it, no matter how well-meaning my forbearers may have been. I set that teaching aside now, in favor of The Truth.

I step out in faith; I raise my standard for myself, and I affirm that:

"Yes! I am a child of God. As I believe, it is done to me." I say this over and over again, whispering at first, and then in a loud voice that will not be silenced, until I feel it and believe it! My job is to ask for what I wish to experience, and to see it already done – to feel in my heart the fulfillment of my dreams come true.

I entrust my prosperous life to God. I expect and accept God's miracles and abundance in my life ongoing. It may take me a few days to get used to the idea and feeling of being cared for by God, and the impact it has on not only me, but my family, my community, my church family, and the planet.

With deep gratitude, I leave this treatment, knowing that it is already done. And so it is!

Rev. Nancy Callahan – for CSA's Financial Prosperity (SAMPLE)

The One who created all, also created The Center for Spiritual Awakening.

God is being The Center for Spiritual Awakening of Pacific Grove, its leaders, and its congregants, as well as the hundreds who have yet to discover it and become part of its family.

We know and understand that God knows no limitation that is we humans who sometimes, through mistaken beliefs, limit our good and prosperity. We know that God intends for us to have a greater impact on our community than we now have. We know that all of the financial needs of CSA are met now – by and through Spirit.

We know that our job is to place an order, not to figure out how the order is fulfilled. We know that God instructed us to ask and believe that it is already so.

We understand the power of our words and intention, and that we have set in motion the Law of Mind with this treatment. Therefore, we leave this treatment, confident that this is already accomplished. And so it is!

Rev. Cathy Jean Cole – for My Financial Prosperity (SAMPLE)

In this moment, I go within with great intention to remember and remind myself that there is only one – one god/goddess/god-essence that infuses and enthuses everyone and everything always and in all ways. This one, the creator of all, is unlimited bounty, unlimited wisdom, unlimited expression and unconditionally-loving. All these things that my creator is are being me now in every aspect of my life, including my finances.

I now know and accept overflowing prosperity in all aspects of my life as my divine birthright. I don't need to DO anything to make this so, as this one is always willing and able to give me every good thing. I simply need to be aware of this overflowing abundance and receive it now, knowing that simply because I AM, I am worthy to say YES! and receive the gifts of my creator.

Any stories I have told myself up until now about not being able to afford any of my heart's desires or about my needing to work very hard to be debt-free or about there being no way to ever be debt-free are just that – STORIES! They are not true! I now shed the brilliant light of consciousness on these untruths and they now simply dissipate into the nothingness from which they came. These stories are not the truth of me.

The truth of my financial life is that I am indeed debt-free! I have an abundance of financial and other forms of prosperity in my life always. I trust that the one that created me can also indeed 'restore the years that the locusts have eaten' and I now claim and accept fully that I am debt-free! This financial freedom affords me the ability to express all of God's unique gifts through me and for this I am very grateful.

I know these words are both true and powerful and I know and accept there is a Law which knows how to make this all true for me in time and space now. Thank you – loving mother father God in me for these gifts.

And so it is!

Rev. Cathy Jean Cole – for CSA's Financial Prosperity (SAMPLE)

I now recognize that the only truth there is that there is one life, one force, one loving and abundant source of all there is. This one in all its wisdom, bounty and glory is being every person who loves and/or attends The Center for Spiritual Awakening.

This one all-providing energy now infuses and enthuses every person that comes into contact with CSA in any way shape or form. This loving force lights up, lifts up, and raises the consciousness of every person in this congregation in all areas of their lives, especially in the area of their individual finances and in their collective finances as this pertains to CSA's perfect expression now.

There are miracles afoot! A new idea has been given by Spirit to many congregants of CSA and the idea of a greater possibility for financial freedom and increased expression of CSA's gifts to the world has been proclaimed! We now know and accept that these ideas are powerful and they are supported by a loving, wise and abundant universe.

There is no limitation in the form of money at CSA. There is only trust in a divinely prosperous source of all there is. We now no longer go to the ocean of unlimited wealth with a thimble – we instead, collectively go to this ocean with a pipeline – stretching right from the ocean of abundance straight into CSA – now and forever!

We trust and know that this source knows how to provide all for CSA and that it is done easily and effortlessly by a Divine Mind that hears our requests and is quite happy to fulfill them!

For this, we are extremely grateful. Thank you – loving mother father God in me!

And so it is!
